A WORD FROM THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY JEFF EBERT

Hello Cheviot Enthusiast,

It is always a challenge to come up with things to write about in the annual column, this year is no different. However, as I was sending the final items to Monica, my daughter, who takes care of the design and layout for the Journal, two things came to mind. Those two things were change and technology.

Why those two topics? For starters, Monica recently left a job in New Zealand to start a new one in South Africa (that is part of the reason the Journal is slightly delayed this year). It amazes me how easy it is to communicate despite the miles that separate us and how easy it was for her to make the change.

What does this all have to do with Cheviots? Are you accepting change and technology into your Cheviot breeding program? Artificial insemination and embryo transfer have become somewhat commonplace in the sheep industry for purebred breeders. As these become more common it is also becoming less expensive for many breeders to use in their personal flocks.

What about your selling methods? Have you developed a website, or are you promoting your flocks on social media? The avenues for marketing your sheep have changed and you should explore these opportunities to keep your Cheviot breeding program in front of as large an audience as possible.

With all of that said, there is still a place for the old-fashioned methods as well. Sound breeding principals, daily flock management, and advertising in breed publications will always remain important to any successful breeding program.

The moral of the story is no matter where your travels take you, be sure to look for opportunities to make improvements in your operations, but don't forget what got you where you are!

UPDATED INFORMATION WANTED

The American Cheviot Sheep Society emails a periodic newsletter about events and Cheviot happenings. If you would like to be included on this email list please notify the association office at ebertsheepfarm@gmail.com. This will allow the information to get to you, the members, much quicker. Also, if you have corrections to your address or phone number or want to add your cell phone to your breeder listing, please notify the office of that as well. The mailing list is an ever changing list so please do all you can to keep the Association office of any changes in your contact information.

The association is always looking for good farm scene pictures of Cheviots, so if you get a chance take some pictures and send them by email or disk to the association office. Your help in these matters is much appreciated.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The modern Cheviot breed has been produced by selection rather than by crossing. It is a pure breed, one of a very few in this country. Because of this purity, when the Cheviot ram is mated with crossbred ewes of other breeds, he stamps an unmistakable Cheviotness on his offspring, importing to them a large measure of the superiority of which Cheviots are known.

Distinctive Appearance

The modern American Cheviot is primarily a mutton sheep. As sheep weights go, it is definitely one of the smaller breeds but one of the most distinctive in appearance. Much of its distinctive appearance is due to the high carriage of the head and the quick, coordinated stride. The head is carried high, and the ears are carried together, erect and forward. There is no wool on the head or face in front of the ears, nor is there wool below the knees and the hocks. The head, legs, and ears are covered with very fine white hair. Their bare heads, attractive white color and absence of horns give them a very aristocratic bearing. Nostrils and hooves should be black in color. Rams in good condition mature at 160 to 200 lbs., ewes from 130 to 170 lbs.

Extreme Hardiness

The breed is also recommended for its extreme hardiness. This is one of the breed's strongest characteristics. For generations raised on the Cheviot Hills, rarely seeing the inside of a shed or barn, summer or winter, Cheviots have, from force of circumstances, developed into the hardiest of the medium-wool breeds. The newborn lambs are strong, vigorous and alert and are born with a will to live. Their unusual vitality and hardiness makes them easy to raise, and with reasonable care, losses are insignificant.

Production Plus

Cheviot ewes are a delight for the shepherd. They bear their lambs easily, have a high number of twins, and produce plenty of milk to support them. Production records, year after year, show that their twins grow as fast as single lambs. Both the lambs and their mothers are good foragers and thrifty efficient feeders. Their grazing pattern is unlike that of other sheep. Instead of grouping together in a frontal assault on a single area, they tend to spread out over an area and get all the available feed. As rustlers, they have few equals. If there is vegetation to be found—above or beneath the snows—browse, grass, heather, or weed—they will find it.

Desirable Carcasses

The modern Cheviot has a compact body with a straight smooth back with covers a rack of well-filled, meaty chops and a broad loin of superior quality. The leg is full, round and plump. One of the outstanding merits of these choice cuts, the Cheviot has a reputation as a meat producer. These plump, meaty cuts, their pink flesh delicately trimmed with just enough fat to make them juicy and tender, are the housewife's choice because with them she can serve her family a tasty meal with minimum waste. Because they are housewife's choice, Cheviots are the choice of the butcher, and therefore bring a better price at the market. The Cheviot is prized by the meat packers for the very practical reason that the packer gets more pounds of lamb which he buys "on the hoof."

Cheviot rams are excellent sires in crossbred market lamb production programs. Ewes built to deliver larger-headed lambs find the Cheviot-sired lambs, with their small heads, very easy to deliver, so that much less attention is required at lambing time. These lambs are so vigorous, strong, and hardy at birth that losses are kept at a minimum, and a higher percentage of the lambs are raised to marketing age. Successful producers of commercial lambs know their success depends upon their ability to produce the kind of lamb carcasses which the market demands, at the lowest labor and feed cost. Cheviot ram aid these commercial producers in producing the type of lambs desired by the market.

Fine Fleeces

Cheviots produce generous fleeces of white wool which is preferred by mills because its fineness, crimp, and length of staple give it superior spinning and combing qualities, and its low grease content causes less shrinkage in scouring. The fleece is usually grades 1/4 to 3/8 blood combing and is usually from four to five inches in length. Rams will normally shear 9 to 13 lbs., and the ewe will produce fleeces of 8 to 10 lbs.

All Things Considered

Though Cheviots may come in smaller packages, they contain for the sheepman a surprising combination of highly desirable qualities. They are noted for hardiness, longevity, productiveness, milking, and mothering ability and for their great activity. They are high in quality and hang a presentable carcass that has a minimum of outside fat for the amount of carcass lean produced. They utilize rough, low producing hill country very profitably with relatively little assistance from man and even less from the elements. Where there is a really tough clean-up job to be done to convert waste land into dollars, more and more sheepmen are discovering that "Cheviots can take it." In comparing Cheviots with other breeds, let the comparison be made on a basis of pounds of dressed lamb and clean wool produced per acre, and consider all of the costs of this production, including the year-round cost of feeding the ewe, and the time and attention required at lambing and shearing time.

CHEVIOT BREED STANDARDS

Border Cheviots are a small-framed breed of sheep known for their vigor, mother ability, muscle and ease of fleshing. Along with their size, the head is another unique characteristic of the Border Cheviot.

I. GENERAL APPEARANCE 25 POINTS

A. APPEARANCE: Alert, active stylish and symmetrical, standing on moderate leg length. The overall body exhibits balance.

B. SIZE: The preferred Cheviot is proportional in height and length equal to or exceeding the height of the animal. The average Cheviot ram should weigh approximately 200 pounds at maturity. The average Cheviot ewe should weigh approximately 150 pounds at maturity.

II. BREED TYPE 25 POINTS

The beauty of the Cheviot head is one of the breed's distinguishing features. The Cheviot style, alertness and contrasting colors set the breed apart from others.

A. HEAD: Medium in length and broad, with ample width between the eyes. Straight with little arch between the eyes and nostrils; more strongly arched in rams.

1. EARS: Medium in length, sharply erect, of medium thickness, and placed on top of the head. The circumference of the ears should give a curved appearance, rather than flat and open. From a side view, the ears should be pointed slightly forward.

2. EYES: Large, round, clear and alert, with black pigmentation around the rim of the eye.

3. NOSE: Broad muzzled, with large nostrils forming a black "T" at the end of the nose.

4. MOUTH: Black lipped with a strong deep jaw.

B. HAIR COVERING: Head, ears, and legs well covered with fine, short, white hair. Black spots are acceptable on the ears and poll. Black spots on any other part of the body are objectionable. Brown hair on any part of the body is HIGHLY objectionable.

C. HOOVES: Black in color.

III. STRUCTURE 25 POINTS

Soundness is imperative in useful Cheviot sheep. Incorrectness decreases the animal's movement, growth, reproductive rate, longevity, usefulness and ultimate value. Additionally, structure and soundness are highly inheritable traits. Cheviots should stand on large circumference of bone with adequate size to the foot. Structural soundness relates to the skeleton. Incorrectness in one part of the skeleton usually is connected to incorrectness in other parts of the skeleton. For example, usually post-legged animals are also too straight in their shoulder angle.

AREAS OF STRUCTURAL CORRECTNESS

FOREQUARTERS: Shoulder blades should be set in uniformly and smoothly to the rest of the body.

BACK: The back of Cheviot sheep should be straight as possible from the top of the shoulder to the dock. A slightly elevated shoulder in comparison to the hip is acceptable. Additionally, slight slope of the hip from the hook to the pin bones is acceptable.

FRONT FEET: Front View: Both feet should point forward and be perpendicular to the body with straightness from the chest floor to the toe.

SIDE VIEW: Feet should be straight from the chest floor through the knee to the pastern. The angle of the pastern should be approximately 45 degrees. Less of an angle allows for weak pasterns and more of an angle allows for extreme straightness.

REAR FEET: Side View: The back of the rear leg should be perpendicular to the pin bones of the hip. Less angle allows for post-legged individuals. More angle causes sheep to be sickle-hocked.

REAR VIEW: Legs should be square and perpendicular to the corners of the body with equal distance between legs at the hock and the toe.

MOVEMENT: Animals should maintain the proper correctness to the skeleton both while standing and moving. Many times structural defects are not evident until the animal moves about. It is then important to assess structural correctness both while the Cheviot is standing and moving.

For the beginner and veteran breeder alike, an excellent article on feet and leg soundness in sheep is "Feet and Legs" (North Central Regional Extension Publication #301) by Drs. Harold Henneman and Margaret Benson of Michigan State University.

IV. BODY 25 POINTS

A. NECK: Moderately long, trim, and exhibiting extension, blending smoothly into shoulders, and contributing to an overall balanced appearance.

B. SHOULDERS: Smoothly laid in from neck to back. Tight at top of the shoulder, also smooth at the point of the shoulder.

C. CHEST, BRISKET, AND HEART GIRTH:

STANDARDS OF EXCELLENCE

Chest deep and moderately wide, but trim, with adequate capacity, and fitting smoothly into neck and shoulders. Brisket also trim. Heart girth full, broad and deep to promote longevity.

IMPLEMENTING NEW BREED STANDARDS

The new Cheviot Standards of Excellence were adopted at the 2004 annual meeting of the American Cheviot Sheep Society. The new Breed Standards are the result of more than two years of work by a committee formed in 2002. Through the process of updating the Cheviot Breed Standards, members presented many thoughts and proposals. These thoughts were debated until the final draft was approved by a vote of the members in November 2004.

While probably not perfect, these Standards represent a significant step forward in the preservation of both the desirable carcass and the beautiful and distinctive Cheviot appearance. Now the important task of applying these Standards is up to all Cheviot breeders. Taking time to explain and demonstrate the preferred Cheviot characteristics to young 4-Hers and others who desire to be Cheviot breeders is critical.

Another important task in assuring that these Standards are followed is to choose judges for national Cheviot competitions who will apply them in the show ring. To help the Board of Directors evaluate how an individual judge applies the breed Standards of Excellence, we ask you to fill out the critique form found on the back page of the Cheviot Journal. If you need extra copies of the critique form, please contact the ACSS office. It is very important for each member to do this so we can establish a judge's review to assist in the selection of judges for national shows who follow the Breed Standards.

The American Cheviot Sheep Society has taken a large step forward in guarding and maintaining the quality of our Cheviot breed. It is now up to each one of us to complete this task. Please fill out a judge critique form for each show you attend and follow the instructions for submitting the form. If you would like extra copies of the Cheviot Breed Standards of Excellence to share with judges in your area, please contact the ACSS office.

THE HISTORY AND THE FUTURE OF THE INDUSTRY: THROWING AWAY THE BOX

BY: ALLISON CRANE

When it comes to buying and selling sheep, one thing almost always holds true: people want what they want, when they want it. In the last few weeks I have attended ram sales and spoken to producers representing many breeds. Throughout these events, I have had many conversations with many producers about their rams, flocks, goals of the operation, and their view of the industry. No matter the breed of sheep represented and how much time, money, and effort has been invested into the operation, producers feel the need to pick apart both their own breed, as well as others. This criticism seems to have the potential to lead to two different outcomes, both good and bad, depending on the nature of the criticism. First, criticism is necessary for progress, however, too much can destroy relationships with colleagues, friends, and an industry. Secondly, it can also lead to producers feeling the need to put themselves and particular breeds of sheep in a box.

Most of the popular breeds in the United States have changed dramatically in one way or another over the years; whether one thinks this is good or bad is personal opinion. However, when considering criticism and change, we must also consider the present state of the sheep industry. Criticism from one another is much needed to determine the direction we need to be headed in from a phenotypic and genetic stand point. Although, we must also consider that as an industry we are far too small to begin alienating breeds or producers. Everyone plays a vital role in the industry. Alienation can lead to producers boxing themselves in. This leads to a regression of their operation and their breed.

When studying the Hampshire breed in particular, we see that many changes have taken place to the breed in the United States throughout its history. The Hampshire breed began as the English countryside became incorporated and the importance of developed feeding strategies was recognized for more efficient production of meat and wool. The hardy English version of the sheep is arguably very similar to what remains to be seen on the English countryside today. Since the early 1889, when both the English and American Hampshire Down Breeder's Association were founded, the breed is still known for many of the same original qualities; rapid growth, efficient feed conversion, multiple births, and muscling. However, in the United States, we see that the phenotypic appearance of the sheep has changed since the early 1900s. The purpose of production also varies greatly across the U.S., from purebred breeders for show, to club lamb producers, to range ram sire producers. Each breeder has their purpose and their own goals for production and efficiency. This shows how a breed, when willing to progress, set aside preconceived notions (your 'box'), can fulfill many purposes while being economical, productive, and still fulfilling breed characteristics.

Producers can get caught chasing many different boxes, restricting them so much at times that they are no longer productive. The boxes can vary anywhere from investing everything into producing club type lambs, breed show stock, hand spinning fleeces, to only investing in producing high indexing offspring, it is easy to become single mindedly focused on one particular aspect of production. This is not where progress will be made, though. I believe there is a balance that must be maintained, while also preserving history and our breeds. When new producers enroll in the National Sheep Improvement Program, one of my favorite things that they are told is to write down the top 3 goals they have for their operation in which progress can be made from a genetic standpoint, such as increasing lambing rates by 20%, or increasing loin eye area by half of an inch while maintaining back fat depth, etc. I argue all producers should be doing this for their operations from a broad aspect. So I challenge you all to ask yourselves, what are your top 3 goals for your operation? Without goals we have no direction, and without direction, how do we make progress as an industry? When desirable goals are set, they are attainable, progress can be made, if we are willing to set aside the boxes of preconceived notions and some tradition. However, do not mistake me for saying we should set aside all tradition, for I believe this is one of the most important aspects of what we do as sheep producers and also aids in preserving the pride in what we do.

I believe this should be a goal of our industry: Do not limit yourself to a box. It is important to maintain breed standards, having pride in your breed and the products you produce, whether that wool, lamb, or both. However, your respective breed, through both genetic and phenotypic selection, can fulfill many purposes when we allow ourselves to think outside the box and push limitations. Producing quality stock will always be recognized. If we are not moving forward as an industry, we are moving backwards. We must learn from other industries mistakes, while also undoubtedly making a few of our own. As producers, we must all strive to become better at what we do each time we do it. This is why we should break open the boxes we have assigned to our industry, our operations, and our breeds. This will allow us to become better producers, while also producing viable products that we can have great pride in. I believe this will allow for change in our industry.

All of this to say, sheep producers have a great opportunity before them to progress their industry. I have enjoyed being able to witness the pride, stamina, and determination exhibited by each and every producer I have been able to know. The time is upon us to take all of these qualities and the wonderful animals that we produce, and go in a direction to progress the industry.

There is no lower age limit, but the junior must be physically capable of showing their own sheep (exception made for physical or other handicap). Each junior may purchase more than one lamb, but only one lamb placing in the top eight will be awarded premiums. The American Cheviot Sheep Society guarantees the availability of at least $800 to be awarded to the top placings.

Consignors will nominate lambs at specified sales and only these lambs will be eligible for the Futurity. All lambs must be purchased at a designated sale. Most consignment and private online sales offer Futurity nominated ewe lambs.

Consignor Rules:

3. Lambs must have scrapie identification in their ear prior to being sold.

Exhibitor Rules:

1. Age limitations for Junior Exhibitor: to be eligible to compete in the futurity, an exhibitor must not be over 21 years of age on the date of the Junior Cheviot Show at NAILE.
2. Junior members must be physically able to show their futurity lamb to qualify for points at each show (exception made for physical or other handicap). If an exhibitor has more than one futurity lamb in a class, the owning junior must show one and another exhibitor must show the second lamb.

3. Futurity lambs are to be registered in the individual junior name only. No partnerships, Farm, family, 4-H Club or FFA Chapter names are acceptable.

4. Ewe lambs and points earned in the Futurity are not transferable to any other person; nor are the points transferable from one lamb to another.

5. Any Futurity entrant may compete with as many lambs as desired, but will receive a premium for the one lamb with the highest point total, in each division.

6. Lambs must be shown in proper age classes.

7. Premiums: The American Cheviot Sheep Society has donated $800 to start the Futurity Premium. A percentage of this money will be awarded to each division based on the number of lambs nominated. The nominating fee will stay within the designated division of the Futurity. Division 1—Spring Ewe Lambs Division 2—Fall Ewe Lambs Division 3—Yearling Ewes

8. The top eight places will be paid in each division.

9. A point card must be filled out for each show and forwarded to the American Cheviot Sheep Society office by November 1, 2018. The card must be signed by the Superintendent of the show certifying that the junior exhibited the lamb, class size and the placing of the lamb.

10. For points-earned purposes, all shows are considered equal; i.e. Aob, Junior, Open, State, County receive equal point value in figuring points. Only the Junior Show at NAILE will be included, excluding the NAILE Open Show.

11. Futurity lambs may compete at any number of shows, but only the top five point-award shows will be included in determining awards.

12. Futurity Awards will be announced at NAILE.

13. The sliding scale shown in the chart indicates how points will be determined.

2017 SCHOLARSHIP WINNER KATIE ANDERSON

ESSAY QUESTION:

HOW HAS THE SHEEP
INDUSTRY, MORE
SPECIFICALLY CHEVIOTS, TAUGHT YOU
RESPONSIBILITY IN ALL ASPECTS OF YOUR LIFE?

The Cheviot breed has taught me many things about responsibility through out my time handling them. To highlight, I have learned that to be a responsible flock manager you must have patience, communication skills, and understand how delicate life can be. Cheviots have taught me to take charge when a situation arises and needs to be handled quickly. Raising Cheviots has been a learning experience for my family over the past 10 years. As anyone who has handed Cheviots knows, they are not the mildest tempered animals. This proved to be a challenge on our farm at first, since no one in my family had any experience at all with sheep. However, as we came to understand the mannerisms of the Cheviot sheep, we came to love them! This process taught me patience. It took long hours, day and night, to figure out how to halter break them and ensure that they cooperated during lambing. Not only was patience a factor in learning these things, but time management and communication skill were as well. I had to learn how to manage a full-time job with my small farm and school work. This also brought on the necessity of communication skills. The sheep on Shepherd's Meadow Farm (my family's farm) are my responsibility. I had to learn how to communicate with my family when I was not going to be home for feeding time, or when I thought someone should check on an ewe during lambing season if I was not home. These communication and time management skills have helped me in the business world through my internship with the United States Army Corp of Engineers. Now, whenever I see that time could be utilized differently or I could be more efficient in another area through my internship, I am able to effectively communicate that with my supervisor. Without the help of my Cheviot flock pushing me to communicate with my family, I doubt that I would be as confident in my communication skills as I am. The most precious aspect of raising Cheviots is that I learned about the gift of life. I quickly learned how delicate a lamb can be, yet at the same time how determined they can be. When lambs are born they instantly become my responsibility. I am the caretaker of that animal and I must determine whether the ewe is caring for it properly or whether to tube feed it, bottle feed it or orphan it to another nursing ewe. Though we have had many successful lambing seasons where we have no lambs or ewes, losing one is never easy, but it taught me how precious life is. I am thankful for the experiences that Cheviots sheep have given me, as well as the many life lessons learned.

BREEDER SOUND OFF DAVID FURROW

Introduce yourself and your family:

Since 1 July 2016, David Furrow and Betty Pullig have lived in Waiteville, West Virginia (Monroe County, South Fork of Potts Creek) and have 28 Border Cheviot brood ewes, 6 llamas as guard animals, 2 Anatolian Shephard livestock guard dogs, and a 60-head cow/calf operation on the Furrow Family Farm. The Furrow family has farmed on this property in Waiteville since 1842 (WV wasn't a state yet). We are both retired Department of Defense employees (33 and 36 years respectively). David was raised in Monroe County WV and Betty is originally from Bryceland, LA. Brennan Furrow, my son, who currently lives in Maryland visits and assists, especially with the Cheviots, on the farm.

Give us a brief description of your Cheviot Flock:

Our flock (Long Family Cheviots) was started by Homer and Edith Long in 1950 as a 4-H Project for their oldest daughter, Barbara Long Furrow (David's Mother). I have been involved with the sheep on and off over the years starting in the late 1960's. The flock has ranged in size from 20-40 brood ewes over the years. We are currently at 28 ewes and plan to stay between 20-30 as that is all the barn space we have.

Why did you choose to raise Cheviots?

I inherited this flock of sheep and am very proud to continue the family tradition. The sheep have been exhibited at the West Virginia State Fair every year since 1950 and 2018 will be our 69th year. Homer was there for the first 60 years and Edith made 63 years. The family hopes to continue for as long as we can.

What advice do you have for people starting out with Cheviots?

Have a lot of patience and the ability to laugh at things. The sheep are a lot of more challenging, much more than cattle, but your efforts can be very rewarding. Make sure you see the good traits in the animals you have. If you don't like them, send them to the sale barn and only keep the ones you like.

What are one or two things that you have found to be critical needs for the success of your Cheviot Flock?

Bigger is not always better. Search for the pieces your breeding program needs and try to be true to Cheviot breed type.

Who are some people that you credit for your success with Cheviots?

Homer and Edith Long of course. My cousin, Steve Johnston, deserves a lot of credit as he took care of the sheep from 2010 until I moved back to WV in 2016. Bob Willerton, Bill Lawter, Judy and John Moore, Kenny Moore, Alvin Shoope, and Dick and Flo Getzelman to name a few. Homer loved to look around the National Sale Barn and talk with folks about the sheep.

Final four quick questions, just for fun

What is your favorite sports team?

NFL - Minnesota Vikings, College Football - WVU Mountaineers, College Basketball - North Carolina Tarheels, MLB - Baltimore Orioles

What is your favorite food?

Meat: beef, pork, lamb

What is the top item on your bucket list?

To jump out of a perfectly good airplane (sky diving).

What is your favorite place you have visited?

BREEDER SOUND OFF

JODI COBB

Introduce yourself and your family:

My husband, Steve, and I are blessed with four children: Jessika, Jami, Eli, and Clay. We live on a grain and livestock farm in Northwest Ohio where we raise four breeds of sheep: Cheviots, Columbias, Shropshires and Dorsets. We keep an average of 90 brood ewes so we stay busy with everyone helping out to support our farm. Steve also works as a fabricator and custom builds hydraulic fitting stands for livestock.

Give us a brief description of your Cheviot Flock:

My father, Alvin Shoop, started our cheviot flock in 1943. We focus on strong breed characteristics such as a sharp head with a good ear set with a black nose and black around the eyes. We prefer cheviots with a smaller frame on good feet and legs. Currently we raise 30 purebred registered cheviot brood ewes.

Why did you choose to raise Cheviots?

I was born on a sheep farm with Cheviots, Dorsets, and Shropshires. My father loved to show sheep and helped me in the barn to learn everything I know. Although we had a few breeds to take care of, the cheviots still remain my favorite. I grew to love cheviots due to their spirited, but gentle nature. To me, there is nothing prettier than a fitted Cheviot.

What advice do you have for people starting out with Cheviots?

Study the cheviot breed, the characteristics and know the breed standards. Choose a breeder wisely when you are thinking about purchasing an animal. Know what you are buying and make sure that the breeder will stand by you after your purchase. Finally, patience pays off; due to their nature it may take you more time to get a cheviot ready for show than other breeds.

What are one or two things that you have found to be critical needs for the success of your Cheviot Flock?

We look for breed character and only keep good brood ewes that are good mothers.

Who are some people that you credit for your success with Cheviots?

My Dad, of course, Henry Kuykendall, and Fred Richards are men that inspire me to keep raising pure Cheviots and to pass my knowledge on to our children. My dad loved to show sheep and travel around the country to pursue his passion. He was always out for a good time and he loved to laugh, the Cheviot breeders were a part of his family.

Final four quick questions, just for fun

What is your favorite sports team?

The Ohio State Buckeyes!

What is your favorite food?

Ice Cream

What is the top item on your bucket list?

67-YEAR-OLD CHEVIOT FLOCK SELLS

Doyme Lenhart of Georgetown, IL sells his entire flock of brood ewes to Dusty Rincker of Stewardson, IL

DOYNE SAYS: This spring I had to make one of the toughest decisions I have ever made in my life! I decided to sell my Cheviot ewe flock which I started in 1950. As I am crowding 84 years of age, I decided that I didn't need to be in the lambing barn in 0 degrees weather at 2 am. I wanted the ewes to go to a good home and stay together so I called Dusty. He came and looked at them and said "I want 'em." I feel really proud that he liked them so well and wanted to incorporate them into his flock. I wish him lots of success and satisfaction with these ewes.

DUSTY SAYS: I would like to thank Doyme for selling his ewe flock. When he called and said he wanted to sell them, I couldn't pass the chance of getting this line-bred group of ewes. He hasn't brought an outside female in to his program in over 30 years. These ewes are big bodied, big topped ewes that have the heads and color we have been looking for. We have several Cheviot ewes at the farm now. Stop by the farm and we will talk Cheviots.

Announcing our Online Equipment Auction

We will have an online auction of a lifetime of sheep equipment consisting of feeding, sorting, and show equipment. In my auction business, I started doing online auctions 8 years ago, so this auction will be on my auction site. My son, Kerry, is now running the auction business and with my help, he will be in charge. Go to lenhartauction.com and when the time comes a catalog with photos and descriptions will be there. You might go online now and practice, as a new auction goes on every Friday. This equipment will go online Friday, June 1st and will close Monday, June 11th starting at 6 pm central time. This is just prior to the sheep auctions at Springfield on June 23rd, so items can be picked up starting any time after June 13th at 8 am. You can pick up your purchases on the way to or from the Springfield Auctions. An open house will be on Saturday, June 9th. We are 120 miles east of Springfield, IL.

The auction closes an item every 10 seconds, so it moves pretty fast. You can't get sniped with this program. If someone bids in the last 3 minutes, the bidding is extended on this item for another 3 minutes. This can go on until someone runs out of money.
